

Welcome

Welcome To My Website!

The past 15 months have been busy while I marketed my book "Why Is There A Lemon In My Fruit Salad". The book is still selling very well and I thank you (my readers!) for your e-mails and letters! I love hearing from you. I saw many of you at book signings and speaking engagements and it was a thrill to meet you! You all have blessed me so much.

While I will continue to make appearances for "Fruit Salad", I plan on spending more time this summer at home to finish up my next book, which my publisher has been asking me for. "I'm A Kid At Heart" is the working title (these things can change!) and it's about God as our Heavenly Father, and how He's a parent who has all the answers, who comforts us when we need it, and who loves to spend time with us. If all goes as planned, it should be available next year.

I'm excited to see where the next book takes us. To God be the glory. - Pam
